Monthly report - August 2016

We are currently coming to the end of two months of intensive consultation with communities across Devon, Cornwall and the Isles of Scilly – it's the biggest ever to be held into policing issues.

Never before has the public, and interested organisations, been given the chance to have such an influence on setting priorities for the police force.

So far over 1,200 people have taken part but there is still a chance for you to get involved – we will be collecting feedback until 5pm on Friday 9 September.

If you have concerns about how your community is policed and want to help fashion how that happens in the future, I would urge you to take part.

Simply click on this link and it will take you directly to the webform – it will take about 10 minutes to complete
